of Mr McDonough. GROVER'S THEATER .- Mr. J. W. Wallack this evening receives a benefit at Grover's, on which occasion will be presented a splendid and stractive bill-two thrilling pieces, the beautful five-act play entitled the "Stranger," and the delightful three-act play, the "Honey moon." Mr. Wallack appearing in the former as the "Stranger," and in the latter as "Duke Aranza." To-morrow evening, Mr. Wallack in his great impersonation of "Fagin," in the dramatization of Dickens' "Oliver Twist." The theater-goers of the Metropolis will be pleased to know that Mr. Wallack has consented to remain another week with us, when many who have been unable to witness his superior acting heretofore, can avail themselves of the opportunity.

SEATON HALL -Mr. Sanderson, of Sanderson's Minstrels, we are pleased to announce, has engaged Seaton Hall, corner of 9th and D streets, a large, commodious and comfortable room, for the coming winter, where he preposes to contribute a bountiful share of wit, humor, sentiment, and singing, dancing and instrumental music to the Washington pub-

CANTERBURY .- The host of performers now at the Canterbury is sufficient evidence of the popularity of the institution, and speaks well in behalf of the energy and activity of the managers of this vast concern. The house is nightly filled to overflowing to witness the worderful feats, splendid acting and good singing of the great combination company nightly appearing on the stage. If you wish to get rid of me blues you have but to drop in, and they wil be dispelled.

THE UNION MARYLAND CENTRAL COMMIT-THE called upon the President of the United States, yesterday afternoon, at 1 o'clock, by appointment. They were separately introduced to the President by the Hon. Montgomery

After the ceremony was concluded, W. H. Pirnell, Esq., chairman of the committee, delivered an eloquent address, in which he said: "bey rejoiced that the people, by an almost utanimous and unprecedented majority, had again elevated the President to the proudest ard most honorable position on earth, and had endorsed his course of action. They felt under dep obligations to him, because he had appreciated their condition as a slave State. It was not too much to say that, by means of the exercise of a rare discretion on his part, Maryland occupies a position in favor of freedom, having forever abolished slavery by the sovereign decree of her own people. They desired that his Administration in the future, as in the past, would result in the restoration of the Union, with freedom as its immutable basis. After further remarks of a like appropriate character, Mr. Purnell expressed the hope that the President, on retiring from his high and important position, would receive the universal approval of mankind; and may Heaven." he said, "crown your days with loving kindness and tender mercy." The President, in reply, said: "He had to confess that he was fully notified of the intention thus kindly to call upon him, and by that means he had a fair opportunity offered to be ready with a set speech; but he had not prepared one, having been very busy with his public duties; therefore, he could only speak as the thoughts might occur to him. He would rot attempt to conceal from them the fact that he was gratified at the result of the Presidential election, and he would assure them that he had kept as near as he could to the exercise of his best judgment, for the promotion of the interests of the whole country; and now, to have the seal of approbation marked on the course he had pursued was exceedingly gratifying to his feelings. He might go further and say that, in as large proportion as any other man, his pleasure consisted in the belief that the policy he had pursued would be the best and the only one that could save the country. He had said before, and would now repeat, that he indulged in no feeling of triumph over any one who thought or acted differently from himself. He had no such feeling towards any living

When he thought of Maryland in particular, it was that the people had more than double their share in what had occurred in the elections He thought the adoption of their free State constitution was a bigger thing than their par in the Precidential election. He could, any dev, have supposed to lose Maryland in the Preside hial election to save its free constitution, because the Presidential election omes every four years, and the adoption of the constitution, being a good thing, could not be undone. He therefore thought in that they had a victory for the right worth a great deal more than their parts in the Presidential election, although he thought well of that. He once before said, and would now say again, that those who had differed from us and opposed us would see that it was better for their own good that they had been defeated, rather than to have been successful. Thanking them for their compliment, he said he would bring to a close that short speech."

The company then entered into a free and pleasant conversation with the President, who was in the best possible spirits, and the committee took their leave, well pleased with the FIRF .- About half-past nine o'clock last night, fire was discovered in the feed storehouse of Michael Green, in the square between 13th and 14th st. and L street and Massachusetts avenue. The patrolman on the beat hastened to the alarm box, No. 37, corner of 12th and I s reets, and gave the alarm: but before the firemen were able to reach the spot and get to work, the storehouse and contents were nearly destroyed. The fire spread to a number of wood and coal sheds adjoining, and these were soon destroyed. The more valuable property around was endangered by the rapid spreading of the flames; but the firemen succeeded in getting water from the plugs, and prevented serious damage. The loss will fall heavily upon Mr. Green, as we learn that his store. house was well filled, and in addition to that a carriage valued at several hundred dollars was destroyed. The origin of the fire had not been accounted for.

The loss of Mr. Green is estimated to be $2,0.0. A horse and cow were burned in the stable connected with the feed house.

STEALING MACHINERY.-Last Saturday, a colored boot-black, named Albert Foster, went to the store of Wheeler & Bro., corner of 7th street and canal, and offered for sale, important parts of the machinery of a printing press. Mr. Wheeler took the pieces and told him to come back and get the pay yesterday. The boy returned as directed, and offered more of the same sort of machinery. Mr. Wheeler had him arrested by Roundsman Kelly, of the 4th Ward, who succeeded in finding out that the pieces were stolen from Tower's printing press, corper of 6th street, and Louisiana avenue. The boy is held for a hearing by Justice Giberson.

FOUND AND SECURED .- Last Wednesday, the young man Douglass, who took lodgings at Mrs Hayes' boarding-house on 4% street, and was missed soon after with a lot of valuable clothing belonging to other boarders, as stated in the Star of that day, was caught He was taken before Justice Giberson, identified as the missing man, though he gave the name of Chas. Williams, and was sent to jail for court. From the evidence it appeared that he does not stay long at any boarding house he patronizes, but will not depart from his general rule while in his present quarters.

FIFTH WARD DRAFT ASSOCIATION .- A meetng of this association was held last evening at Langley's Hall, Capitol Hill, at which Mr. Gulick, of the recruiting committee, submitted his report, that they had paid to three recruits $400, for the arrest of five deserters $250, and for miscellaneous expenses $50.75, total $700.75.

The association adjourned sine die. Measures were immediately taken to organze another association to relieve the Ward of any future call, and it was determined to call a meeting at the same place for next Tuesday evening. SECOND WARD STATION CASES .- John Curas and Thomas Marriner, vagrancy; workhouse. Maria Gilmer, Caroline Berringer, Menna Berringer, disorderly; $5. THE McClellan Badge NOT THE CAUSE OF DELAY.—The Chief Clerk of Transportation in the Quartermaster's Department of this in the Quartermaster's Department of this city, in a communication, noticing the item which was copied from the Alexandria State Journal, headed "The Latest and not the Worst Story of Mr. Lincola," says that "no preferences were shown, except to sick and wounded men, and a soldier wearing a Mc-Clellan badge received his papers as soon as one wearing that of Lincoln.

GARRETT VS. HOOD .- A few days since, in the Circuit Court, (Judge Olin,) the case of Milton Garrett against John Hood was tried-Mr. Blunt for plaintiff and Mr. M. Thompson for defendant.

The suit was to recover the amount of several notes drawn by Hood in favor of R. B. Ironside, and endorsed by the latter. The defendant pleaded non assumsit, the statute of limitation and usury. The plaintiff testified that he had purchased the notes from Ironside, and that they were free from usury. Mr. Thompson argued that the case of Thompson against Bowie (decided a few weeks since by Chief Justice Cartter) and this case were perfectly analogous, and, aithough he did not acquiesce in that decision-which he thought would be overruled by the United States Supreme Court-he considered it for the time being as the law of the court, and he desired that his client should have the benefit of it. As in Bowie's case, evidence had been allowed to go to the jury that the pave eof the notes kept a gambling house, and none other; that Bowie's propensity, when drunk, was to visit gambling nouses and play; that he (Bowie) gave a note bearing the same date with those in the suit to another party-he proposed to offer evidence that Garrett kept a usurious house; that he (Garrett) was engaged in a usurious business and none other; that when sober his propensity was to engage in such business; that on the same day of the date of the no es in this suit, Garrett discounted other notes at usurious rates.

Mr. Thompson argued that there was no distinction in principle between the two cases, and that if the evidence was admitted in one case it ought to be admitted in the other

Judge Olin overruled the offer. Col. Thompson took exceptions to this ruling, and the defendant and Mr. Ironside were put on the stand, (the law now allowing parties to a suit to testify in their own behalf,) and testified that the notes were made by Hood, and endorsed by Ironside, at the request and for the accommodation of Hood, to enable him to raise money. (farrett discounted the notes at usurious interest, with a full knowledge of all the Judgment was given for defendant.

GRAND LARCENY .- Yesterday officer Howard arrested John Shea and James Fox, for the larceny of a suit of clothes, the property of Kate Bennett. The accused were taken before Justice Giberson and sent to jail for court. The same officer arrested Wm. Haisleman, for the larceny of a suit of clothes from Henry Amstag. The property was recovered, and the prisoner lodged in the Fourth ward Station to await a hearing before Justice Giberson.

SEVENTH WARD STATION CASES. - John Smart and John Perry, drunk and disorderly; $5 each. Mary Kelley, do ; workhouse. Elizabeth Kelley, do.; $4. Elizabeth Penney, do.; 85.90. Margaret Russell, do.; $3.90. Andrew Welch, do.; $10.90. Mary Abram, drunk; $2.90. Mary Straining, assault and battery; bail for conrt. Joshua Aulbert, drunk and disorderly;

ELECTED TO THE LEGISLATURE.—We notice that Mr. Baker A. Jamison, formerly of this city, has been elected by the Democrats of St Mary's county to the Legislature of Maryland. Mr. Jamison will be recollected by many of our citizens as the captain of a young men's volunteer company known as the "Scott Guards," some years since.

FOURTH WARD STATION CASES .- Kate Green, fighting; $5.64. Mary Merrill, do.; workhouse. Peter Kennedy, drunk; $2.58 Chas. Williams, grand larceny; jail. Celia Wilson, disorderly: dismissed. P. McCauley, drunk; John Barrett and Miles L. Reed, drunk and disorderly; $1.58 each.
